

Contents

Preface vii

PART I: THE WAYS OF COACHING 1

- Introduction: the paths towards coaching 1
- 1. From intake to intervention: the outlines of a profession 5
 - 1.1 Coaching: a new trend? 5
 - 1.2 Developing a coaching relationship 8
 - 1.3 The organisation coach 12
 - 1.4 The coach's playing field 13
 - 1.5 A coach from inside or outside the organisation? 16
 - 1.6 What works for whom? 17
- 2. From stigma to status: the growth of a profession 21
 - 2.1 The exponential growth in coaching practice 21
 - 2.2 Underlying social trends 24
 - 2.3 What can we learn from these trends? 28
- 3. From prize-fighting to prizes for all: the active ingredients 31
 - 3.1 Ample evidence of great effectiveness 34
 - 3.2 No difference in effectiveness between approaches 34
 - 3.3 The active ingredients are common to all approaches 37
 - 3.4 Working alliance, therapist and client are the most effective active ingredients 39
 - 3.4.1 The quality of the relationship 39
 - 3.4.2 The person of the therapist 40
 - 3.4.3 The person of the client 43
- 4. From intervention to interaction: relational coaching 47
 - 4.1 Ten commandments for the executive coach 47
 - 4.2 Effective coaching means relational coaching 52

- 4.3 The coaching relationship as a succession of critical moments 56
- 4.4 Relational coaching makes a difference at critical moments 61

PART II: THE WAYS OF RESEARCH 65

- Introduction: the paths towards research 65
- 5. Coachees have their say: which interventions work for us? 69
 - 5.1 Introduction 69
 - 5.2 Description of the study 74
 - 5.2.1 Participants 74
 - 5.2.2 Questionnaires 74
 - 5.2.3 Procedure 78
 - 5.3 Quantitative results: helpfulness appears to be a generic experience 79
 - 5.4 Qualitative results: evaluating the importance of the coaching relationship 86
 - 5.5 Conclusion 89
- 6. 'I doubt therefore I coach': critical moments of less experienced coaches 93
 - 6.1 Introduction 93
 - 6.2 Initial classification of the 80 moments 94
 - 6.3 Summary in the form of a 'doubtful' story 95
 - 6.4 How to handle these critical moments and doubts? 97
 - 6.4.1 Analysis 97
 - 6.4.2 Synthesis 102
 - 6.5 Conclusion 106
- 7. 'I struggle and emerge': critical moments of experienced coaches 109
 - 7.1 Introduction 109
 - 7.2 Initial classification of the 78 moments 112
 - 7.3 Summary in the form of a 'doubtful' story 114
 - 7.4 How to handle these critical moments? 115
 - 7.4.1 Analysis 115
 - 7.4.2 Synthesis 122
 - 7.5 Conclusion 126

- 8. Coaches have their say: how to handle critical moments? 131
 - 8.1 Introduction 131
 - 8.2 Description of the study 132
 - 8.2.1 Comparison with previous study of critical moments of experienced coaches 133
 - 8.2.2 Study method: the temporal process and supervision 135
 - 8.3 The temporal patterns of the critical moments 137
 - 8.4 How to handle these critical moments: the use of supervision 143
 - 8.4.1 Analysis 143
 - 8.4.2 Synthesis 148
 - 8.5 Conclusion 150

PART III: THE WAYS OF EXCELLENCE 155

Introduction: the paths towards excellence 155

- 9. Training and accreditation of the executive coach 159
 - 9.1 Areas of competence of the coach 159
 - 9.1.1 Convictions and values of the coach 159
 - 9.1.2 Attitude of the coach 161
 - 9.1.3 Knowledge of the coach 161
 - 9.1.4 Strategic skills of the coach 162
 - 9.1.5 Specific interventions of the coach 163
 - 9.2 Coach education 164
 - 9.2.1 First year of a masters programme 166
 - 9.2.2 Second year of a masters programme 168
 - 9.2.3 How coach education addresses the various areas of competence 171
 - 9.3 Coach accreditation 172
 - 9.3.1 Accreditation criteria 173
 - 9.3.2 Accreditation process 176
 - 9.3.3 How coach accreditation addresses the various areas of competence 181
- 10. Continuing professional development of the executive coach 185
 - 10.1 Individual professional development: reflective practice 187
 - 10.2 Co-coaching and peer consultation 187

-
- 10.3 Coaching supervision 189
 - 10.3.1 Process of individual supervision 195
 - 10.3.2 Process of group supervision 197

 - 11. Library of the executive coach 203
 - 11.1 Introduction: coaching and reading 203
 - 11.2 A historical overview in fiction 204
 - 11.2.1 Homer's Odyssey: the triumph of mentor-coach Athena 204
 - 11.2.2 Plato's Meno: the encounter with the numbfish 207
 - 11.2.3 Yalom's When Nietzsche wept: the mid-life crisis 209
 - 11.3 Milestones in the coaching literature 211
 - 11.3.1 Stroeken's Kleine psychologie van het gesprek: a vade mecum for helping conversations 211
 - 11.3.2 O'Neill's Executive coaching with backbone and heart: the coach as partner 214
 - 11.3.3 Peltier's The psychology of executive coaching: systematic inspiration 216
 - 11.4 Milestones in psychotherapy 218
 - 11.4.1 Heron's Helping the client: specific helping interventions 218
 - 11.4.2 Rogers' On becoming a person: sharing something of me 221
 - 11.4.3 Malan's Individual psychotherapy: the science of coaching 223
 - 11.5 Books about care for the coach 225
 - 11.5.1 Miller's Das Drama des begabten Kindes: how did we actually become coaches? 225
 - 11.5.2 Foucault's Fearless speech: the care of the self 228
 - 11.5.3 Hawkins' & Shohet's Supervision in the helping professions: and who takes care of the coach? 231

 - 12. Future of the executive coach 235
 - 12.1 The role of research in coaching 237
 - 12.2 The role of coaching in organisations 238

APPENDIX A: 80 CRITICAL MOMENTS OF NEW COACHES 243

APPENDIX B: 78 CRITICAL MOMENTS OF EXPERIENCED COACHES 261

APPENDIX C: CASE STUDY: TAMARA 291

APPENDIX D: VERBATIM TRANSCRIPT: KEN 303

APPENDIX E: CODE OF CONDUCT FOR EXECUTIVE COACHES 311

1. General principles 311
2. Code of ethics 312
3. Code of Practice 313

APPENDIX F: INTAKE INSTRUMENTS AND CHECKLISTS 315

1. For the recipient of coaching 315
2. For the coach 317
3. For triangular contracts 318

Literature 321

Index 329

<http://www.pbookshop.com>