

Contents

Introduction: The New Rights	1
1. Rights for Humans	1
2. Universal Jurisdiction	4
3. Acquiring Jurisdiction over the Person	15
4. The Basic Elements of the ATCA	17
5. A Preview of the Argument	25
1: A Comparative Analysis of Tort Law	27
1. The Original 'Ticking Bomb' Case	30
2. The Attempt to Reconcile Trespass and Case	37
3. The 'Birth' of Strict Liability	39
4. Proximate Cause: The Last Gasp of Trespass	45
5. Comparative Analysis	53
6. If Criminal, Tort Follows	57
7. Punitive Damages	58
2: The Paradigm of Efficiency	67
1. The Transition from Negative to Positive Efficiency	69
2. From Negative to Positive Efficiency: Once More	73
3. The Implications of Cost-Benefit Analysis	79
3: Reciprocity	85
1. Private Law, not Public Law	87
2. The Dispute about Contributory and Comparative Negligence	91
3. Excusing Risks	95
4. Critique of Reciprocity	103
4: The Paradigm of Aggression	105
1. The Passive Victim	108
2. Interaction as the Alternative	110
5: Torture as Aggression	115
1. Filartiga : The Pivotal Decision	115
2. The Oddities of Torture	117

3. Torture in the Context of Armed Conflict	121
4. An Affirmative Account of Torture.....	123
5. The Element of State Action	125
6. Karadžić Completes the Cycle.....	127
7. Torts as Domination	128
6: The Jurisprudence of Sosa	133
1. The Abduction, and Losing in the Supreme Court	133
2. Winning in the Supreme Court	135
3. Discretionary Development of the ATCA	144
4. Reconstructing the Sosa Opinion.....	153
5. Discretion and Specificity	157
7: The Liability of Accessories	161
1. The Nature of Complicity	164
2. The Khulumani Case	168
8: Concluding Theses	173
Appendix One: ATCA Cases Cited in the Preceding Text in the Order they were Cited	177
Appendix Two: Additional ATCA-related Cases not Cited in the Text	185
Index.....	199