

Contents

Preface to the Fourth Edition	xvii
About the Author	xxi
Acknowledgements	xxii
PART I Context of Accounting	1
1 Introduction to Accounting	3
Accounting, accountability and the account	3
Introducing the functions of accounting	5
A short history of accounting	6
The role of financial accounting	7
The role of management accounting	8
Recent developments in accounting	10
The relationship between financial accounting and management accounting	12
A critical perspective	13
Conclusion	15
References	15
Questions	16
2 Accounting and its Relationship to Shareholder Value and Corporate Governance	17
Capital and product markets	17
Shareholder value-based management	18
Shareholder value, strategy and accounting	21
Company regulation and corporate governance	23

The regulation of companies	23
Corporate governance	23
Principles of corporate governance	24
Responsibility of directors	24
Audit	25
Audit committees	25
Stock Exchange Listing Rules	26
Risk management, internal control and accounting	26
A critical perspective	27
Conclusion	28
References	28
Websites	28
Questions	29
3 Recording Financial Transactions and the Principles of Accounting	30
Business events, transactions and the accounting system	30
The double entry: recording transactions	31
Extracting financial information from the accounting system	35
Basic principles of accounting	37
Accounting entity	37
Accounting period	37
Matching principle	38
Monetary measurement	38
Historic cost	38
Going concern	39
Conservatism	39
Consistency	39
Cost terms and concepts: the limitations of financial accounting	39
Conclusion	41
References	41
Questions	42
4 Management Control, Accounting and its Rational-Economic Assumptions	44
Management control systems	44
Planning and control in organizations	47
Non-financial performance measurement	51
A theoretical framework for accounting	55
Conclusion	56
References	56
Websites	58

5 Interpretive and Critical Perspectives on Accounting and Decision Making	59
Research and theory in management control and accounting	60
Alternative paradigms	62
The interpretive paradigm and the social construction perspective	65
Culture, control and accounting	67
The radical paradigm and critical accounting	68
Power and accounting	70
Case study 5.1: easyJet	71
Ethics and accounting	74
Case study 5.2: Enron	76
Case study 5.3: WorldCom	77
Conclusion	77
References	78
 PART II The Use of Financial Statements for Decision Making	 81
6 Constructing Financial Statements: IFRS and the Framework of Accounting	83
International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS)	84
Framework for the Preparation and Presentation of Financial Statements	85
Objectives of financial statements	86
Qualitative characteristics of financial statements	86
Elements of financial statements	87
Concepts of capital maintenance	88
True and fair view	88
Reporting profitability: the Statement of Comprehensive Income	89
Reporting financial position: the Statement of Financial Position	92
Accruals accounting	94
Depreciation	95
Specific IFRS accounting treatments	97
Accounting for sales taxes	98
Accounting for goodwill and impairment testing	98
Accounting for research and development expenditure	99
Accounting for leases	99
Reporting cash flow: the Statement of Cash Flows	100
Differences between the financial statements	102
Illustration	102
A theoretical perspective on financial statements	103
Agency theory	104
A critical perspective on financial statements and accounting standards	105
Conclusion	105

Reference	106
Websites	106
Appendix: IFRS as at 1 January 2011	106
Questions	107
7 Interpreting Financial Statements	111
Annual Reports	111
The context of financial statements	113
Ratio analysis	113
Profitability	115
Return on (shareholders') investment (ROI)	115
Return on capital employed (ROCE)	115
Operating margin (or operating profit/sales)	116
Gross margin (or gross profit/sales)	116
Overheads/sales	116
Sales growth	116
Liquidity	117
Working capital	117
Acid test (or quick ratio)	117
Gearing	117
Gearing ratio	117
Interest cover	117
Activity/efficiency	118
Asset turnover	118
Working capital	119
Managing receivables	119
Managing inventory	120
Managing payables	121
Managing working capital	121
Shareholder return	122
Dividend per share	122
Dividend payout ratio	122
Dividend yield	122
Earnings per share (EPS)	123
Price/earnings (P/E) ratio	123
The relationship between financial ratios	123
Interpreting financial statements using ratios	125
Profitability	125
Liquidity	126
Gearing	126

Activity/efficiency	126
Shareholder return	126
Using the Statement of Cash Flows	127
Case study 7.1: HMV Group – interpreting financial statements	127
Limitations of ratio analysis	135
Case study 7.2: Carrington Printers – an accounting critique	135
Alternative theoretical perspectives on financial statements	138
Intellectual capital	138
Institutional theory	139
Corporate social responsibility	140
Sustainability and the ‘triple bottom line’	141
Global Reporting Initiative	142
Applying different perspectives to financial statements	142
Conclusion	143
References	144
Website	144
Questions	144
8 Accounting for Inventory	152
Introduction to inventory	152
Flow of costs	153
Cost formulas for inventory	153
Inventory valuation under the weighted average method	154
Inventory valuation under FIFO	155
Retail method	155
Net realizable value	156
Methods of costing inventory in manufacturing	156
Long-term contract costing	159
Management accounting statements	161
Conclusion	162
Questions	162
PART III Using Accounting Information for Decision Making, Planning and Control	167
9 Accounting and Information Systems	169
Introduction to accounting and information systems	169
Methods of data collection	170

Types of information system	171
Business processes	173
Internal controls for information systems	174
Developing information systems	176
Conclusion	177
References	177
10 Marketing Decisions	178
Marketing strategy	178
Cost behaviour	180
Cost–volume–profit analysis	181
Breakeven with multiple products	185
Operating leverage	186
Limitations of CVP analysis	187
Alternative approaches to pricing	188
Cost-plus pricing	188
Target rate of return pricing	189
Optimum selling price	189
Special pricing decisions	190
Transfer pricing	192
Segmental profitability	192
Case study 10.1: Retail Stores plc – the loss-making division	194
Customer profitability analysis	196
Case study 10.2: SuperTech – using accounting information to win sales	198
Conclusion	199
References	199
Questions	200
11 Operating Decisions	203
The operations function	203
Managing operations – manufacturing	205
Managing operations – services	207
Accounting for the cost of spare capacity	208
Capacity utilization and product mix	209
Theory of Constraints	211
Operating decisions: relevant costs	212
Make versus buy?	212
Equipment replacement	213
Relevant cost of materials	214
Total quality management and the cost of quality	217

Environmental cost management	218
Case study 11.1: Quality Printing Company – pricing for capacity utilization	218
Case study 11.2: Vehicle Parts Company – the effect of equipment replacement on costs and prices	220
Case study 11.3: Quality and waste at Planet Engineering	222
Conclusion	223
References	223
Questions	224
12 Human Resource Decisions	228
Human resources and accounting	228
The cost of labour	229
Relevant cost of labour	231
Case study 12.1: The Database Management Company – labour costs and unused capacity	234
Case study 12.2: Trojan Sales – the cost of losing a customer	236
Conclusion	238
References	238
Questions	238
13 Overhead Allocation Decisions	243
Cost classification	243
Product and period costs	243
Direct and indirect costs	245
The overhead allocation problem	247
Shifts in management accounting thinking	248
Alternative methods of overhead allocation	250
Variable costing	250
Absorption costing	251
Over- or under-recovery of overhead	255
Activity-based costing	256
Differences between absorption and activity-based costing	258
Contingency theory	260
International comparisons	261
Management accounting in Japan	262
Behavioural implications of management accounting	263
Case study 13.1: Tektronix Portables division	266
Case study 13.2: Quality Bank – the overhead allocation problem	267
Conclusion	269
References	269
Questions	271

14 Strategic Investment Decisions	276
Strategy	276
Capital expenditure evaluation	277
Accounting rate of return	279
Payback	281
Discounted cash flow	282
Net present value	282
Internal rate of return	284
Comparison of techniques	285
Case study 14.1: Goliath Co. – investment evaluation	286
Conclusion	288
References	288
Appendix: Present value factors	288
Questions	290
15 Performance Evaluation of Business Units	293
Structure of business organizations	293
The decentralized organization and divisional performance measurement	296
Absolute profit	296
Return on investment	297
Residual income	297
Controllability	298
Case study 15.1: Majestic Services – divisional performance measurement	299
Transfer pricing	302
Transaction cost economics	304
Conclusion: a critical perspective	305
References	306
Questions	307
16 Budgeting	310
What is budgeting?	310
The budgeting process	311
The profit budget	313
Case study 16.1: Superior Hotel – service budget example	314
Case study 16.2: Sports Stores Co-operative Ltd – retail budget example	316
Case study 16.3: Telcon Manufacturing – manufacturing budget example	317
Cash forecasting	319
Case study 16.4: Retail News Group – cash forecasting example	320
A behavioural perspective on budgeting	323
A critical perspective: beyond budgeting?	325
Case study 16.5: Svenska Handelsbanken – is budgeting necessary?	326

Conclusion	327
References	328
Questions	328
17 Budgetary Control	333
What is budgetary control?	333
Flexible budgeting	334
Variance analysis	335
Case study 17.1: Wood's Furniture Co. – variance analysis example	336
Sales variance	338
Cost variances	339
Materials variance	340
Labour variance	342
Overhead variances	344
Reconciling the variances	345
Criticism of variance analysis	346
Cost control	347
Applying different perspectives to management accounting	348
Conclusion	349
References	349
Questions	350
18 Strategic Management Accounting	354
Strategic management accounting	354
Accounting techniques to support strategic management accounting	357
Value chain and supply chain management	357
Human resource accounting	358
Activity-based management	358
Lifecycle costing	360
Target costing	361
Kaizen costing	362
Just-in-time	362
Backflush costing	363
Lean production and lean accounting	363
Case study 18.1: TNA and strategic management accounting	365
Conclusion	367
References	368
Further reading	368
Books	369
Articles published in the following journals	369

PART IV Supporting Information	371
Introduction to the Readings	373
Reading A	375
Questions	375
Further reading	375
A Cooper and Kaplan (1988). How cost accounting distorts product costs	376
Reading B	388
Questions	388
Further reading	388
B Otley, Broadbent and Berry (1995). Research in management control: an overview of its development	389
Reading C	407
Questions	407
Further reading	407
C Covaleski, Dirsmith and Samuel (1996). Managerial accounting research: the contributions of organizational and sociological theories	408
Reading D	439
Questions	439
Further reading	439
D Dent (1991). Accounting and organizational cultures: a field study of the emergence of a new organizational reality	440
Glossary of Accounting Terms	471
Solutions to Questions	485
Index	543
