

Index

- A
- Abrashoff, D. Michael (Commander), 25–27
- Acceptance of organizational change, 41–43
- Accountability, 187
- Action, encouraging, 162–165
- Action learning: coaching, 258–259, 266–270; developing inquiry leadership, 261–263; essential elements of, 256–259; groups, 257; how it develops questioning leaders, 256; how it works, 259–260; overview, 255–256; questions first rule, 263–264
- Adams, Marilee, 242–243
- Adaptability, 41–43
- Adaptive problems, 201–202
- Affective questions, 96
- Ally, Shamir, 205; biography, 247
- Amgen, 214–215
- Analytical questions, 96
- Anderson, Neal, 165
- Andracchi, Frank, 77–78; biography, 247; on conflict management, 54; on problem solving, 199–200
- Anheuser-Busch, 131, 227
- Answer dependency, 143–145
- Answer-driven organizations, 31–32
- Appreciative inquiry, 113
- Association for the Blind and Visually Impaired—Goodwill Industries, 235
- Austin, James, 228
- B
- Badaracco, Joseph, 54, 55, 57
- Bay of Pigs invasion, 17–18
- Bertucci Watch Company, 205
- Best-in-class questions, 156
- Biehl, Bobb, 39
- Blanchard, Ken, 230
- Bossing, vs. coaching, 109
- Boston Red Sox, 20
- Bristol-Myers-Squibb, 131
- Busch, August, III, 130–131
- C
- Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce (CIBC), 220
- Carew, Jeff, 12–13, 78; biography, 248; on innovation, 47; on learning, 164–165; on listening, 121; on the role of questions in organizational learning, 35–36; on why questions, 93–94
- Cargill's Malt Americas, 221
- Carkhuff, Roger, 156
- Carnegie, Dale, 22
- Center for Creative Leadership, 132
- Challenger* spacecraft, explosion of, 16
- Champy, James, 161
- Change, leading organizational change, 232–235
- Charoux, Eric: biography, 248; on conflict management, 194; on organizational change, 232–233; on questioning culture, 143
- Cheng, Lily, 161–162, 217

INDEX

- Cheng, Peter, 154–155, 161–162, 217;
biography, 248
- Cisco, 227
- Clarifying questions, 96, 191
- Closed questions, 98–99
- Coaching: action learning, 258–259,
266–270; adopting a learning attitude,
110; vs. bossing, 109; establishing a coaching relationship with direct reports, 156–159; leading teams as a coach-questioner, 178–186
- Coffman, Vance, 37–38
- Cohen, Gary, 13–14, 146
- Coleman, Mike: on avoiding asking questions, 66; biography, 248; on following up, 126; on impact of questions on leaders, 240; on mindset for asking questions, 105; on teamwork, 45–46
- Collins, Jim, 20, 24, 139; Level 5 leaders, 57
- Commitment, 187; to learn and develop,
56–57
- Communication, 52–53
- Community, 187; questions for,
227–229
- Confidence, 211
- Conflict management, 53–54; questions that help you manage team conflict, 193–196
- Contemplation in action, 71
- Corporate culture, 74–77
- Corporate values, 229
- Courage, 66
- Culture. See answer-driven organizations;
corporate culture; questioning culture
- Customers, questions for, 220–223
- D
- DCDM Business School, 232–233
- Decision making, and a questioning culture, 38–41
- Deep listening, 211. See also listening
- Deep questioning, 209–210
- Dell, Michael, 27–28, 32
- Dialogue, 135–137; questioning via, 207–208
- Disaster prevention, day-to-day, 18–19
- Disempowering questions, 84–86, 153
- Disputes, using questions to handle, 36
- Double-loop learning, 40
- Drucker, Peter, 22–23, 27, 219; on leadership, 230; on listening, 121
- DuPont, 131–132, 139, 227
- E
- Eden, Douglas, 23–24, 43; biography,
248–249; on customers, 221; on goals, 166; on listening, 52; on organizational change, 236
- Edmondson, Ron, 151–152; biography,
249
- Effective executives, nine practices of,
22–23
- Empathy, 141
- Empowering employees, 43–44
- Empowering questions, 84–86, 153
- Encouraging open discussion and debate, 186–188
- Encouraging people to ask and respond to questions, 171–172
- ETDT (eliminate the dumb things), 77
- Explorative questions, 95
- F
- Failure to ask questions, 20–22
- Family Health Council of Central Pennsylvania, 234–235
- Fear, 64–68
- Feedback, 170–171. See also performance appraisals
- Finding great questions, 101–102
- Finkelstein, Sidney, 20, 21; on corporate culture, 75
- The 5 Elements of Effective Thinking*
(Burger and Starbird), 204
- Flexibility, 50–52
- Following up, 125–126
- Ford Motor Company, 227
- Fostering reflection and learning, 159–162
- Framing questions, 110–114
- Fresh questions, 96, 173
- G
- Gaillard, Jean-Paul, 163–164, 204–205;
biography, 249
- Goals, 230
- Goldberg, Marilee, 162; on empowering questions, 86; on strategy, 230–231
- Goldsmith, Marshall, 28–29, 126; on encouraging people to ask and respond to questions, 171–172
- Good to Great* (Collins), 20, 57

Index

- Groupthink, 17–18
GROW model, 182
- H
- Halloran, Jean, on empowering others, 86
Hamel, Gary, 163
Hammer, Michael, 219
Harbison, John R., 225
Harper, Mark: on benefits of a questioning culture, 40; biography, 249; on coaching, 157; on encouraging action and innovation, 162–163; on great questions, 88; on questioning culture, 144–145, 147; on skills in asking questions, 73; on teams, 181–182, 183; on using questions to gain new perspectives, 36–37
Heimbold, Charles, 131
Helping (Schein), 241
Hesse, Herman, 268
Hesselbein, Frances, 123, 235
Hewlett-Packard Laboratories, 231
Hoffman, Robert, 3, 79; biography, 249; on building relationships, 160; on listening, 122–123; on problem solving, 203–204, 208; on questioning culture, 51
Holliday, Chad, 2, 81, 188; biography, 249–250; on impatience, 68–69; on modeling the way, 131–132; on opportunity to ask questions, 139; on questioning stakeholders, 227; on why questions, 95
Hopf, Gidget, 12; biography, 250; on coaching, 157–158; on opportunity to ask questions, 140; on strategy, 235; on using questions as a reality check, 186
How to Win Friends and Influence People (Carnegie), 27
- I
- Iceberg tips, 123
Image, 230
Individual benefits of a questioning culture, 48; better listening and communication, 52–53; conflict management, 53–54; greater self-awareness, 48–50; greater understanding and skills in organizational and political realities, 55–56; self-confidence, openness, and flexibility, 50–52; stronger commitment to learn and develop, 56–57; stronger leadership, 57–58
- Innovation, 47–48; encouraging, 162–165
The Innovative Leader (Sloane), 241–242
Inquiry Institute, 272
Inquiry leadership: practicing, 242–243.
See also questioning leaders
Iorio, Pam, 76; biography, 250; on great questions, 88–89
- J
- Janis, Irving, 17
Journey to the East (Hesse), 268
Judger mindset: defined, 104; vs. learner mindset, 101–108; questions asked from, 108
Just Ask Leadership (Cohen), 146
Kanter, Rosabeth Moss, 234
Kennedy, John F., 17–18, 243
Kennedy, Robert, 18
Kliman, Stuart, 226–227
Knowling, Robert, Jr., 231–232
Kotter, John, 22, 232, 239
- L
- Lantz, Gavit, on great questions, 90
Laughlin, Tom, 79; biography, 250; on building relationships, 158–159
Leaders: becoming a leader who asks questions, 242–243; creating motivation and environment to challenge the status quo, 133–137; great questions defining great leaders, 27–29; impact of questions on, 240–242; making sure values and processes don't conflict with questions, 137–139; vs. managers, 22; modeling the way, 130–133; optimizing the opportunities to ask questions, 139–140; providing training in questioning, 142–143; rewarding and appreciating questioners, 141–142; role in creating a questioning culture, 130; slowing the pace and the pressure, 142; traditional and coaching leaders' behavior and legacies, 179–181; what happens when leaders don't ask questions, 14–18
Leadership, 57–58; leading with questions in the 21st century, 243–244
Leading questions, 100
Leading Quietly (Badaracco), 54, 55
Leading with Questions Academy/PACE-OD, 272
Leading with questions, research on leaders who lead with questions, 4–6

INDEX

- Leading with Questions website/blog, 272–273
- Learner mindset: adopting, 108–110; defined, 104; vs. judge mindset, 101–108; questions asked from, 107–108
- Learning, fostering, 159–162
- Learning orientation, 211
- Lencioni, Patrick, 186
- Lendemann, Rick, biography, 250–251
- Listening, 52–53; deep listening, 211; and showing interest in the response, 120–125; sincere listening and learning, 126–127
- Loyalty, 137, 223
- M
- Mahfouz, Naguib, 241
- Managers, vs. leaders, 22
- Managing key employee interactions, 165–173
- Marshall Space Center, 16
- Maryland Chemical Company, 222
- Mead, Margaret, 177
- Meetings, energizing team meetings, 188–190
- Merchant, Nilofer, 199
- Milchling, Suzanne, 80; on avoiding asking questions, 67; biography, 251; on great questions, 89–90; on probing questions, 96–97; on questioning style, 153–154
- Mill, John Stuart, 23, 186
- Milliken, 222
- Mindset for asking questions, judge vs. learner, 101–108
- Mission, 230
- Mitroff, Ian, 40
- Mittelstaedt, Robert E., 15–16
- Moon, Kook-Hyun, biography, 251
- Morale, 185
- Morris, John, 56–57, 80
- Morton Thiokol, Inc. (MTI), 16
- Motivating employees, 43–44
- Motivation, creating, 133–137
- Motorola, 220
- Multiple questions, 100
- N
- NASA, 16
- New employees, 172–173
- O
- On Liberty* (Mill), 186
- Open-ended questions, 91–93, 95–97, 191; working with, 97–98
- Openness, 50–52
- Organizational awareness, 55–56
- Organizational benefits of a questioning culture: enhanced innovation, 47–48; greater adaptability and acceptance of organizational change, 41–43; improved decision making and problem solving, 38–41; motivating and empowering employees, 43–44; overview, 34–38; stronger teamwork, 44–46
- Ostland, Charles, 192–193; biography, 251; on self-reflection, 69
- P
- Panas, Jerold, 152
- Parker, Mike, 21–22
- Partlow, Jeanette, 222; biography, 251; on performance appraisals, 169
- Partners, questions for, 224–227
- Pekar, Peter, Jr., 225
- Performance appraisals, 167–169. See also feedback
- Peters, Tom, on teams, 177
- Peterson, Donald, 23
- Pfizer, 203–204, 225
- Planning, questions for, 165–167
- Power Questions* (Sobel and Panas), 152
- Probing questions, 96–97, 192
- Problem solving: enabling a group to ask questions when problem solving, 210–211; gaining an understanding of the real problem through questions, 202–204; improving questions while, 211–212; overview, 199–200; and a questioning culture, 38–41; questions at various stages of, 206–210; questions for breakthrough problem solving, 204–205; technical and adaptive problems, 200–202
- Purpose, 230
- Q
- Questioning and Teaching* (Dillon), 116
- Questioning culture: better listening and communication, 52–53; conflict management, 53–54; defined, 32–34; enhanced innovation, 47–48; greater adaptability and acceptance of

Index

- organizational change, 41–43; greater self-awareness, 48–50; greater understanding and skills in organizational and political realities, 55–56; hallmarks of, 34; handling resistance to, 143–147; improved decision making and problem solving, 38–41; individual benefits of, 48; leader's role in creating, 130; motivating and empowering employees, 43–44; organizational benefits of, 34–38; self-confidence, openness, and flexibility, 50–52; stronger commitment to learn and develop, 56–57; stronger leadership, 57–58; stronger teamwork, 44–46
- Questioning leaders, 256, 261–263
- Questions: affective questions, 96; analytical questions, 96; clarifying questions, 96, 191; closed questions, 98–99; for details, 191; encouraging people to ask and respond to questions, 171–172; explorative questions, 95; finding great questions, 101–102; framing, 110–114; fresh questions, 96, 173; great questions defining great leaders, 27–29; leading questions, 100; multiple questions, 100; for new employees, 172–173; open-ended questions, 91–93, 95–98, 191; during performance appraisals, 167–169; for planning and setting objectives, 165–167; probing questions, 96–97, 192; reflective questions, 96; roots of great questions, 86–90; steps in the questioning process, 114–126; stimulating questions, 192; summarizing questions, 192; that create connections, 96, that disempower, 3; that empower or disempower, 84–86; that manipulate, 3–4; timing for, 114; types of effective questions, 91–99; as the ultimate leadership tool, 22–27; unhelpful questions, 100; what happens when leaders don't ask questions, 14–18; why questions, 93–95. See also failure to ask questions; trouble asking questions
- Quiet leadership, 54
- R
- Rajab, Effendy Mohamed, 36; on being more politically sensitive, 55; biography, 251–252; on framing questions, 112; on open-ended questions, 92; on perspective, 71–72
- Reality, facing, 20–22
- Reality testing, 201–202
- Reflection, fostering, 159–162
- Reflective questions, 96
- Relationships: establishing a coaching relationship with direct reports, 156–159; that empower, 152–156
- Research, on leaders who lead with questions, 4–6
- Resources, 271–273
- Responsibility, sharing, 196
- Revans, Reg, 87, 255
- Rewarding and appreciating questioners, 141–142
- Rimanoczy, Isabel, 2; biography, 252; on framing questions, 112–113; on leadership, 165
- Rock, David, 70–71, 120, 142; biography, 252
- Rogers, Carl, 156
- Russell, Bertram, 51–52
- S
- Schein, Edgar, 132–133, 147, 241
- Schlesinger, Arthur, 17–18
- Schmidt, Eric, 58
- Self-awareness, 48–50, 159–160
- Self-confidence, 50–52
- Self-directedness, 210–211
- Senge, Peter: on finding great questions, 101–102; on teams, 177
- Sets. See action learning groups
- 78 Important Questions Every Leader Should Ask and Answer* (Clarke-Epstein), 222–223
- Shared values, 33
- Sharer, Kevin, 214–215
- Single-loop learning, 40
- Sloane, Paul, 241–242
- Slowing the pace and the pressure, 142
- Smart Thinking for Crazy Times* (Mitroff), 40
- Smyk, David: biography, 252; on decision making and problem solving, 38–39; on framing questions, 111; on morale, 184–185; on performance appraisals, 169
- Sobel, Andrew, 152
- Stakeholders, 218–219; community, 227–229; customers, 220–223; vendors and partners, 224–227

INDEX

- Steps in the questioning process, 114;
 asking your questions, 116–120;
 breaking the ice, 114–115; following up, 125–126; listening and showing interest in the response, 120–125;
 setting the stage, 115–116
- Stewart, Cindy, 18–19, 63, 65, 80;
 biography, 252–253; on following up, 125–126; on leading questions, 117; on organizational change, 234–235
- Stice, Mike, 14; biography, 253; on framing questions, 113–114; on open-ended questions, 160; on using questions to handle organizational disputes, 36
- Stimulating questions, 192
- Strategic intent, 77
- Strategy: developing strategic vision and values, 229–232; leading organizational change, 232–235; questioning stakeholders outside the organization, 218–229; using questions to bring a fresh perspective, 214–218
- Summarizing questions, 192
- Sydänmaanlakka, Pentti, 2; biography, 253; on feedback, 170–171; on innovation, 47; on leadership, 58, 164;
 on questioning culture, 33
- The System of Logic* (Mill), 23
- T
- Teams: encouraging open discussion and debate, 186–188; energizing team meetings, 188–190; goals of team-building, 184–186; helping the team overcome obstacles, 190–193;
 leading as a coach-questioner, 178–186;
 overview, 177–178; questions that help you manage team conflict, 193–196; sharing responsibility, 196. See also action learning groups
- Teamwork, 44–46
- Technical problems, 200–201
- Telling dependency, 143, 145–147
- Theories in use, 161
- Thornhill, Mark, 129; biography,
 253–254; on leadership, 57; on questioning culture, 135
- Thoughtful questioning, 210
- Tichy, Noel, 21
- Tiede, Bob, 272–273
- Timing questions, 114
- Titanic, sinking of, 15–16
- Toyota, 227
- Training in questioning, 142–143
- Transformative learning, 159
- Triple-loop learning, 40
- Trouble asking questions, 63–64; being in a rush, 68–72; confronting discomfort with questions, 77–81; corporate cultures discouraging questions, 74–77; desire to protect ourselves, 64–68; lack of skills in asking questions, 72–74
- U
- Ultimate empowerment tool, 22
- Unhelpful questions, 100
- USS Benfold, 25–27
- V
- Vaill, Peter, 163
- Values, 230; asking value-related questions, 156; corporate values, 229;
 developing strategic vision and values, 229–232; making sure values and processes don't conflict with questions, 137
- Vendors, questions for, 224–227
- W
- Walt Disney World (WDW), 215–216
- Warner-Lambert, 203–204
- Warrier, Jayan, 173–174; biography, 254;
 on conflict management, 195
- Welch, Jack, 21, 32
- Wheatley, Margaret, 43; on dialogue, 136–137; on leadership, 133; on opportunity to ask questions, 139–140;
 on teams, 177; on teamwork, 46
- Whitemore, John, 182
- White-space opportunities, 76–77
- Whitt, Sue; biography, 254; on developing a coaching relationship, 109–110; on learning, 56; on performance appraisals, 168; on questioning vendors, 225; on teams, 182–183; on teamwork, 44–45
- Why questions, 93–95
- Why Smart Executives Fail* (Finkelstein),
 20, 75

Index

- | | |
|--|----------------------------|
| Will Your Next Mistake Be Fatal?
(Mittelstaedt), 15–16 | Y |
| Winning (Welch), 32 | Yawkey, Tom, 20 |
| Wooden, John, 118 | Z |
| World Institute for Action Learning
(WIAL), 271 | “Zombie Businesses”, 20–21 |
| Worthington Steel, 220 | Zombies, 21 |
| Wurtzel, Alan, 145 | |

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

<http://www.pbookshop.com>

