INTRODUCTION

This book reproduces the chapters in English Private Law which are concerned with commercial law, namely agency, sale of goods, carriage of goods by sea, carriage of goods by air and land, insurance, banking, bailment, security, and insolvency. English Private Law seeks to provide a high-quality overview of the rules and principles that constitute English private law and the intention in producing a student paperback edition is to make particular parts of that work more accessible to students. The benefit of such an overview is that it enables students to see the overall picture of the law and hence to understand how its various parts may be regarded as fitting together in a coherent whole.

The authors are acknowledged experts in their respective subject areas and their brief has been to produce as clear, simple and accurate an overview as possible of the relevant rules and principles. What one has here, therefore, is the product of many years of learning in each particular area.

It is believed that all students, whether studying for undergraduate or postgraduate law degrees, or on professional courses to qualify as barristers, solicitors or legal executives, and taking commercial law papers, will find this book invaluable.

Much of commercial law is built from the law of contract and indeed deals with specific types of contract. This book therefore assumes that one has already taken a course on the law of contract. The general law of contract is covered in chapter 8 of English Private Law which is replicated in chapter 1 of the student paperback Principles of the English Law of Obligations.

It is important to appreciate that, with the exception of changing the chapter numbers and making corresponding amendments to the cross-references, this book essentially replicates the relevant parts of English Private Law which stated the law as at 30 January 2013. However, some light updating has been undertaken to reflect developments up until 30 April 2015 (and it has been assumed for the purposes of the updating that the Consumer Rights Act 2015 is in force although at the time of writing that is not so).

The reference 'EPL' refers to the main work English Private Law, edited by Andrew Burrows (OUP, 3rd edn, 2015).

Chapters 1–6 of this book correlate to EPL chapters 9–14, chapter 7 to EPL chapter 16, chapter 8 to EPL chapter 5, and chapter 9 to EPL chapter 19.
