

Contents

Acknowledgements	v
Abbreviations	xi
Table of Cases	xiii
Table of Treaties and Other Instruments	xv
1 Introduction	1
1.1 Aims and Approaches	5
1.2 Structure	9
2 Democracy Promotion, EU External Relations Law and the ENP Objectives	12
2.1 Introduction	12
2.2 Democracy Promotion and EU External Relations Objectives	13
2.2.1 Democracy Promotion Prior to the Lisbon Treaty	14
2.2.2 The Lisbon Treaty: A New Role for Democratic Values within EU Foreign Policy?	15
2.2.3 Consistent Democracy Promotion?	20
2.3 ENP Objectives: Democracy Promotion within a Security Framework?	23
2.3.1 The Security Agenda of the ENP	24
2.3.2 Democracy Promotion and ENP Objectives	28
2.4 Conclusion	32
3 Legal Aspects of ENP: Institutions, Competence and Instruments	34
3.1 Introduction	34
3.2 Pre- and Post-Lisbon Institutional Aspects	36
3.2.1 EU Institutions and Member States: Pre-Lisbon Arrangements	36
3.2.2 Post-Lisbon Role of EU Institutions	43
3.3 EU External Competence and ENP	53
3.3.1 Across the Spectrum of EU External Competence	53
3.3.2 Article 8 TEU and its Added Value	59
3.4 Instruments and Methodology	67
3.4.1 Soft Law: Rendering Cooperation Possible	67
3.4.2 Hard Law Instruments: Adaptation and ‘Softening’	71
3.4.3 ENP Methodology	73
3.5 Eastern Partnership: Another European Economic Area?	84
3.5.1 Eastern Dimension	85

3.5.2	Seeking Novelty in Bilateral Cooperation	87
3.5.3	Multilateral Framework of Cooperation	90
3.6	Conclusion	92
4	Democratic Values of the EU	95
4.1	Introduction	95
4.2	The Normative Basis for Democracy Promotion: From Rome to Lisbon	96
4.2.1	The Founding Treaties and Democracy	96
4.2.2	Democratic Theories and the EU ‘Democratic Deficit’	98
4.3	Identification of Democratic Values	102
4.3.1	Representation as a Democratic Value	103
4.3.2	Liberal Constitutionalism	109
4.3.3	Participation and Deliberation as a Democratic Value	114
4.4	The Precedent of Enlargement	117
4.4.1	Creating Democracies in Accession States	117
4.4.2	Spreading the ‘Democratic Deficit’ to Candidate States	121
4.5	Conclusion	123
5	EU Democratic Values and the ENP – Implementation in the South Caucasus I: Action Plans	125
5.1	Introduction	125
5.2	Action Plans and EU Democratic Values: A Realistic Plan for Reform?	126
5.2.1	The Democratic Rhetoric and the Action Plans: General Observations	126
5.2.2	The South Caucasian Action Plans and their Democratic Agenda	130
5.3	Action Plan Implementation: Democratic Credentials	140
5.3.1	Action Plan Implementation in Georgia	140
5.3.2	Action Plan Implementation in Armenia	142
5.3.3	Action Plan Implementation in Azerbaijan	145
5.4	Conclusion	148
6	EU Democratic Values and the ENP – Implementation in the South Caucasus II: Monitoring and Assistance	150
6.1	Introduction	150
6.2	Monitoring Political Reform in the South Caucasus	151
6.2.1	Political Dialogue: What Monitoring?	151
6.2.2	Commission Monitoring: ‘Under Western Eyes’?	154
6.3	Financial Assistance and the Democratic Values of the EU	159
6.3.1	The Role of Democratic Values within the ENPI	160
6.3.2	In Search of Democratic Values in Measures Financed	163

6.3.3 Other Support Mechanisms	167
6.4 Conditionality: Quo Vadis?	172
6.5 Conclusion	175
7 Conclusion	177
Bibliography	185
Index	207

<http://www.pbookshop.com>