

Contents

Preface	v
Table of Cases	xi
Table of Statutes	xvii
1 Constitutionalising Secession?	1
Constitutional Order and Disorder	5
Disorder: A Secession Crisis	9
A Right Ordering of Secession	14
Ordering the Right to Secede	17
Terms of Reference	18
A Note on Nationalism	21
Reference Terms	22
Outline of the Book	24
Canada?	28
In a Broader Context	28
2 Associative Constitutionalism	32
The Realist's Challenge	32
Form and Function: Structural Concepts	33
National Constitutional Law Generally	36
Constitution and Association	36
Form's Legacy: Reification	37
Reification and Constitutional Stress	46
Civil Society	48
Associative Constitutionalism	50
Associations, Morality and Values	52
Government and Constitution	54
Government: Control and Authority	56
Authority: Legality and Legitimacy	59
Rules and Associations	63
The Hart of a Constitution	63
Nature of Rules	65
Articulating the Constitution	69
Associations, Institutions and Law	71
A Theory of Institutions	72
Transformation: Institutional Premise, Constitutional Promise	78
A Constitutional View on Secession	81

3	Primary Right Theory	84
	Consent as Primary	86
	Consent, Obligation and Secession	88
	Insufficiency of Tacit Consent	89
	Insufficiency of the Fairness Principle	95
	What is Really Consented To?	101
	Consent and Group Rights	102
	From Primary Right to an Instrumentality Needing Just Cause	107
	Consent as Insufficient Grounds	110
	An Instrumental Concept Based on Just Cause	119
	Law and Politics of Consent Theory	122
4	Remedial Right or Just-Cause Theory	124
	Oppression as Justification for Secession	127
	Concept of Oppression	127
	Fundamental Difference from the Primary Right Model	131
	From Right to Remedy	132
	A Right Understanding of Secession	137
	Continuity Condition	144
	Mutuality Condition	145
	Parsing Remedies	146
	Institutions and Rights to a Remedy	152
	The Remedy of Secession	155
	Responsibility for Constitutional Collapse	157
	Implications of Transformative Failure: Remedial Secession	161
	What Gives Rise to Remedial Secession?	164
5	Remedial Secession and Disassociation	165
	Discriminatory Redistribution	165
	Discrimination as the Violation of Equality	171
	Equality, Commensurability and Associative Relationships	174
	Cultural Preservation and Self-defence	179
	A Nationalist Application of the Oppression Grounds?	186
	Rectificatory Justice	188
	Law and Politics of Just-Cause Theory	191
6	Nationalist Theory of Secession	194
	The Core of Nationalist Secession: National Self-determination	194
	Nationalism's Gloss on Remedial Rights: A Primary Right to Cultural Identity	198
	Nationalism's Affinity for Primary Rights: the Nation as Rights-Holder	200
	Summary: Different Strokes for Different Volks	201
	The Nation as the Summum Bonum	204

A Concept of a Nation	205
Culture of a Nation	209
Subjective Standard: Imagining a Nation	215
Nationalism and Politics	220
Considerations on Subjectivity in Nationalism	221
Next Steps: Who's the Boss?	223
7 Nationalism and Association	226
Nation and Identity	227
Protection of Identity	227
Priority of National Identity: Enforcing the Boundaries	229
Identity and Transformation	236
Sources of the 'National' Self	239
Law and Politics of Nationalism Theory	246
8 Constitutional Text and Context	248
Of Text	251
Hard Realities of Drafting	253
A Questionable Achievement?	254
Of Context	262
Structure of Context	264
Context of Structure	265
Context of Amending Powers	269
Context of Constitutional Rights and Freedoms	275
Secession and Federal Constitutions	278
Structure and Politics	281
Federalism and Voice	287
Conclusion	295
9 Negotiating Secession: Of Voice and Veto	298
Background	300
Bertrand v Québec	302
Bertrand v Québec (No 1)	302
Bertrand v Québec (No 2)	304
Québec v Constitution of Canada	306
Setting the Reference	308
References and Constitutional Interpretation	309
The Supreme Court's Opinion	311
Preliminary Objection	312
Justiciability and Constitutionality	312
Question 1: the Constitution and Unilateral Secession	314
Unwritten, Basic Constitutional Principles	315

Federalism and Provincial Autonomy	319
Deliberative Democracy and Qualified Majorities	321
Bound by the Law: the Rule of Law and Constitutionalism	324
Protecting Minorities	325
Unconstitutionality of Unilateral Secession	325
Primary Right Modelling of Constitutional Secession	327
Questions 2 and 3: International Law, Secession and Constitutions	329
Question 2: International Law and Secession	330
Question 3: Domestic Law v International Law	332
Justiciability and Justifiability	332
Remedial Right Modelling	335
Summary	336
Of Voice and Veto: Popular Sovereignty and the Rule of Law	339
Democratic Will and Constitutional Amendment	339
Secession and Constitutional Veto	341
Of Voice and Veto: Law, Politics and Secession	344
Conclusion	346
10 Legislating Rules for Secession?	348
Origins of the Clarity Act	348
What the Clarity Act Says	352
A Liminal Issue: Characterising the Powers under the Act	354
Being Clear on the Constitutional Questions	358
No Interference with Québec's Referendum Jurisdiction	359
No Clear Violations of the Charter of Rights	361
No Vagueness to the Act's Provisions	362
No Interference with Parliamentary Sovereignty	364
The Absence of 'Clarity'	366
No Definition of 'Clarity'	366
Strategic Bargaining	372
Restricted to Province-oriented Secession Attempts	374
No Reference to Majorities Outside of a Secessionist Province	376
A Clearly Positivist Approach to Constitutional Secession	377
Process and Structure	377
Pitfalls of the Positivist Approach	379
11 Conclusions	381
Disassociating the State	383
Disassociation and Theories of Secession	385
Law, Politics and Beyond	385
Bibliography	391
Index	425