

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Tables	xiii
Introduction: Reform and Non-reform	1
Reform and Non-reform	1
A Century of Non-reform	3
The Evolution of the House of Lords	4
Twelve Instances of Reform and Non-reform	11
1 Veto Limitation over Reform: The Parliament Act 1911	15
The Political Situation, 1906–07	15
Cabinet Discussions on Lords Reform, 1907	16
Budget Rejection, 1909	20
Between the 1910 Elections	23
The Parliament Bill 1911	28
Reform following Veto Limitation? 1911–14	30
Conclusion	31
2 ‘The Battle is Over’: House of Lords Reform, 1917–45	35
The Bryce Conference, 1917–18	35
Cabinet Committees, 1921–22	39
The Cabinet Committee, 1925–27	43
Lords reform in the 1920s	46
Avoiding Reform, 1928–45	46
3 A Pre-emptive Strike: The Parliament Act 1949	51
Labour and the House of Lords	52
Moves Towards reform, 1943–47	54
Nationalisation and House of Lords Reform	56
The Parliament Bill 1947	59
The Party Leaders’ Conference 1948	64
The Parliament Bill Resumed	69
The Iron and Steel Bill	71
Conclusion	73
4 Diluting the Hereditary Principle?: The Life Peerages Act 1958	75
Life Peers	77
Inter-Party Discussions	77

Discussions, 1953–55	81
Limiting the Hereditaries: Proposals	83
Wider Reform: The Cabinet Committee, 1955–56	85
Short and Long Bills	87
The Life Peerages Bill	93
Limiting the Hereditary Peers	94
Conclusion	97
5 ‘The Wedgwood Benn Enabling Bill’: The Peerage Act 1963	101
A Hereditary Life Peerage	103
Earlier Attempts at Renouncing Peerages	104
The Persistent Commoner	106
Fears over Loss of the Hereditary System	107
Party Support for Benn	108
The Committee of Privileges	109
‘Re-election’	110
Seating the ‘Defeated’ Candidate	113
The Joint Select Committee	114
The Peerage Bill	118
Conclusion	122
6 Adding to Wilson’s Strife: The Inter-Party Conference and the Parliament (No 2) Bill [1968–69]	127
Abandoning the Unilateral, Two-Stage Approach	131
The Inter-Party Conference	133
The Southern Rhodesia (United Nations Sanctions) Order 1968	137
The White Paper and the Decision to Proceed with the Bill	140
The Parliament (No 2) Bill	142
Abandoning the Bill	150
1970	153
Conclusion	153
Epilogue: House of Lords Reform, 1970–74	154
After 1974	158
7 Stage One of Two?: The House of Lords Act 1999	159
Turning the Tide of Constitutional Reform	160
John Smith’s Leadership	162
Tony Blair and House of Lords Reform	162
Post-election 1997	163
Priorities for the First Session	164
The Cabinet Committee	166
The Queen’s Speech 1998	169
The Weatherill Amendment: Origins	169
The House of Lords Bill	173

By-elections for Hereditary Peers	174
Conclusion	177
8 The Long Stage Two: The Wakeham Commission and Beyond	179
The Royal Commission on the Reform of the House of Lords	179
Follow-up to the Royals Commissions's Report	189
2001–05: Indecision, then a Surprising Move on Reform	190
Lords Reform in Labour's Third Term	200
2010: General Election and Coalition Government	204
Conclusion	209
9 Reasons for Reform and Non-reform	211
How and Why Does House of Lords Reform Reach the Cabinet's Agenda?	214
How Do Proposals Change When Under Consideration?	215
How and Why Do Proposals Succeed or Fail?	216
Conclusion	219
Further Reading	221
Bibliography	225
Index	241

<http://www.pbookshop.com>