
CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	v
Table of Cases	xi
Table of Legislation and Conventions	xvii
1. Introduction	1
I. Structure	5
II. Motivation, Scope and Methodology	8
A. Motivation	8
B. Scope	11
C. Approach to Analysis	15
2. Environmental Criminal Law in Context	18
I. Property and Environmental Law	19
II. Human Rights and the Environment	24
III. Questions of Risk	27
IV. Jurisdictional Overlap—National Law and EU Law	30
V. Interpretation and Judicial Reasoning	33
VI. Criminal Law and Environmental Law	34
VII. Conclusion	38
3. Legal Certainty	40
I. Defining Legal Certainty	40
A. Perfect Certainty	41
B. Certainty and Predictability	41
C. Certainty in Context	46
II. Transparency and Accessibility in National and European Case Law	47
III. Certainty in Environmental Law	51
A. Perception of Immaturity	52
B. Dissatisfaction Amongst Wider Legal and Business Community	54
C. Interaction with Science	56
D. Tackling the Problem of Administrative Complexity	57
IV. Conclusions	58
4. Waste, Nature Conservation and Contaminated Land: The Offences	60
I. Waste	60
II. Contaminated Land	63

III. Nature Conservation.....	67
A. National Law Designation	69
B. EU Law Designation	70
5. Uncertainty in Interpretation.....	75
I. Uncertainty in Practice.....	75
A. Waste.....	76
(i) Case-by-Case Decision-Making.....	76
(ii) Abdication of Responsibility for Providing Certainty	80
(iii) Reluctance to Articulate Reasons.....	81
(iv) Hard to Reconcile Outcomes.....	83
B. Contaminated Land	85
(i) Case-by-Case Decision-Making.....	85
(ii) Abdication of Responsibility.....	86
(iii) Reluctance to State Reasons	87
(iv) Hard to Reconcile Outcomes.....	88
C. Nature Conservation.....	89
(i) Case-by-Case Decision-Making.....	90
(ii) Abdication of Responsibility.....	91
(iii) Reluctance to Provide Reasons	91
(iv) Hard to Reconcile Outcomes.....	92
D. Conclusions	93
II. The Teleological Approach in the Courts.....	93
A. Waste.....	93
(i) Purposive Interpretation	93
(ii) Dissatisfaction with the Purposive Approach.....	95
B. Contaminated Land	96
(i) Purposive Interpretation	96
(ii) Dissatisfaction with the Purposive Approach.....	97
C. Nature Conservation.....	99
(i) Purposive Interpretation	99
(ii) Dissatisfaction with the Purposive Approach.....	101
D. Conclusions	102
6. Identification of the Cause of Uncertainty: The Regulatory Culture	103
I. Approach of the ECJ.....	104
II. Administrative Approach	110
A. Waste.....	111
B. Contaminated Land	115
C. Nature Conservation.....	117
D. Conclusions	120
III. The Ambiguous Role of the Courts.....	121
IV. Academic Approaches.....	123
A. Waste.....	124
B. Contaminated Land	130
C. Nature Conservation.....	134
V. Conclusions.....	138

7. The Solution: A Change in Approach to Interpretation	139
I. Linguistic Analysis.....	141
II. Mischief.....	144
A. Understanding Harmfulness in the Environmental Context.....	145
(i) Harm and Harmfulness.....	146
(ii) Harm in the Environmental Context.....	147
(iii) Property and Land.....	149
(iv) Interaction with Criminal Law.....	151
(v) Comparison with Existing Approaches to Environmental Harm.....	151
(vi) The Relationship Between Nuisance and Regulation.....	161
(vii) Accounting for Uncertainty, Lack of Scientific Knowledge and Administrative Discretion.....	164
III. Seeing the Rules as Part of a Framework.....	167
IV. Explanatory and Pre-Legislative Materials.....	168
V. Ambiguity—Aims as a Last Resort.....	170
VI. Conclusions.....	170
8. Practical Implementation of the Solution	172
I. Environmental Principles.....	172
II. Legal Barriers to Taking Such an Approach and Overcoming Them.....	177
A. Jurisprudence of the ECJ.....	178
B. Statutory Guidance.....	189
III. Examples in Practice.....	189
A. Interpretation of the Key Terms.....	190
(i) The Waste Regime.....	190
(ii) Contaminated Land.....	194
(iii) Nature Conservation Provisions.....	196
B. Increasing Certainty.....	197
9. Conclusions	199
I. Property/Environmental Law.....	200
II. Human Rights and the Environment.....	201
III. Question of Risk.....	201
IV. Jurisdictional Overlap.....	202
V. Interpretation and Legal Reasoning.....	203
VI. Environmental/Criminal Law.....	204
VII. Conclusion.....	206
 Bibliography	 209
Index	231