| Applications to alter the register of title to a registered estate in relation to adverse possession claims | 441 |
| Upgrading of possessory title | 445 |
| Chapter 22 Registered title — Part 2 | 448 |
| Adverse possession claims against a registered title where the limitation period had not expired before 13 October 2003 | 448 |
| From 13 October 2003 on, adverse possession alone does not affect the title of a registered proprietor | 450 |
| Adverse possession continues to cause time to run against proprietors of registered charges | 452 |
| No time limit for redeeming a mortgage applies in the case of a registered proprietor of registered land | 453 |
| Where a squatter has been in adverse possession of land with a registered title for more than ten years (60 years for Crown foreshore), he may apply to be registered as proprietor of that land | 453 |
| Adverse possession generally has the same meaning as under the Limitation Act 1980, but subject to a number of specific differences | 458 |
| The possession of successive squatters can be aggregated only in limited circumstances | 460 |

- It is unclear whether a written acknowledgment of title prevents a squatter from being in adverse possession up to the date of the acknowledgment 463
- No application may be made under Sch 6 during a period when the registered proprietor is a wartime enemy or detained in enemy territory, or for 12 months after the end of such a period, or during a period when the registered proprietor is unable to make, or communicate, decisions about the application because of mental disability 464
- No application may be made under Sch 6, para 1 during legal proceedings or within two years of judgment 466
- On receipt of a Sch 6, para 1 application, the registrar must serve notice of it on the registered proprietor and other interested persons 467
- If the persons served failed to object within 65 business days, the squatter will be registered as proprietor 469
- The effect of registration in the absence of counter-notice is that the squatter succeeds to the registered title, but free from any registered charge affecting the estate immediately before his registration 471
- If any of the persons entitled to be served with notice of the application serves a counter-notice, the application will be dismissed unless the squatter can satisfy one of three conditions. The only one of practical importance is the third, which covers cases where there has been a reasonable mistake about the boundary between two pieces of land 473
- The effect of registration after service of a counter-notice is that the squatter succeeds to the registered title, but may be subject to any registered charge affecting the estate immediately before his registration, with provision for the apportionment of such charges 481
- Where the squatter's application is rejected and he subsequently remains in adverse possession for two years from the date of that rejection, he acquires the right to be registered as proprietor of the land 483
- A squatter faced with possession proceedings is given the same protection as one who is not 487
- The scheme of the Act is applied to registered rentcharges 487

PART 5 SPECIAL CASES 489

Chapter 23 Easements, profits and other rights 491

Chapter 27 Trusts 581

- Issues that can arise 581
- Trusts to which the Limitation Act 1980 applies 581
- General rule: adverse possession rules apply to equitable interests 582
- The general position 582
- Squatter does not take subject to trusts 583
- Legal estate preserved 583
- Trustee in possession to exclusion of beneficiary 585
- Trustee who takes possession of trust land and then disposes of it 588
- One beneficiary's claim does not benefit another 588
- Charities 588

Chapter 28 Beneficiary in possession to exclusion of trustee 590

- The problem 590
- The old law 591
- Cases where the beneficiaries took possession unlawfully 592
- Cases of lawful possession by beneficiaries 593
- Purchaser in possession under a contract for the sale of land 599
