

Contents

Contributors

Preface

TABLES

Table of Cases

Table of Statutes

Table of Statutory Instruments

Table of European Materials

PART 1 GENERAL

Chapter 1 The Jurisdiction of Regulators: Powers, Principles and Approach

Alison Foster QC, Jack Anderson, Adam Boukraa

- | | |
|---|------|
| (1) The legal basis for the regulator's powers | |
| Statutory and contractual powers | 1.01 |
| (2) The legal basis for the regulator's powers: territorial jurisdiction | 1.08 |
| (3) The legal basis for the regulator's powers: jurisdiction in time | 1.13 |
| (4) The legal basis for the regulator's powers: retrospective effect of rules on past conduct | 1.25 |
| (5) General principles and approach | |
| Reasonableness and relevance | 1.30 |
| Natural justice/procedural fairness | 1.35 |
| Fairness: application to non-statutory bodies | 1.43 |
| Fairness: the McInnes classification | 1.45 |
| Expectation cases | 1.46 |
| Application by the courts | 1.47 |
| Concern with overall fairness | 1.48 |

The right to be heard	1.49
Further illustrations	1.54
Legitimate expectations	1.55
Legitimate expectations: substantive legitimate expectations	1.56
Indicating relevant factors prior to a decision	1.60
Policies and guidance	1.62
Human rights: the Human Rights Act 1998	1.65
Article 6: disciplinary proceedings, determination of a criminal charge or of civil rights or obligations	1.67
Interim decisions	1.72
Article 8: disclosure and confidentiality	1.73
Article 11: freedom of association	1.75
Article 1 Protocol 1 ECHR	1.76
(6) The Regulators' Code 2014	1.79
Chapter 2 The Nature of Professional Misconduct
Saima Hanif
(1) A working definition of professional misconduct – seriousness and professional connection	2.11
Remedy UK	2.26
(2) 'Discreditable conduct'	2.29
Misconduct in public office	2.35
(3) Breaches of rules and principles and the mental element of misconduct	2.35
Dishonesty and recklessness – generally	2.42
Dishonesty and recklessness – professional discipline	2.47
Extent of dishonesty	2.53
Lack of integrity	2.55
(4) Negligence, single particularly serious incidents and inadequate work
Negligence and single particularly serious incidents	2.56
Inadequate work	2.65
(5) Other issues arising
Vicarious liability	2.75
Double jeopardy	2.78
Estoppel	2.84

Criminal conduct	2.88
Chapter 3 Disciplinary Tribunals
Saima Hanif, Cleon Catsambis
(1) The right to an independent tribunal	3.03
How can the independence of a tribunal be assured?	3.08
The assurance of lay membership
Lay members	3.10
The assurance of independent appointment	3.12
The assurance of security of tenure	3.13
The convenor of the tribunal	3.16
Can a lack of independence be cured by the appointment of a fresh tribunal?	3.17
(2) The right to an impartial tribunal
The common law right to an impartial tribunal	3.21
The fair-minded and informed observer	3.26
The Convention right to an impartial tribunal	3.31
Application to tribunals	3.38
Plural tribunals	3.39
The presumption of impartiality	3.40
Knowledge of a witness	3.41
Disqualification for financial interest	3.43
A small interest in the proceedings; the de minimis exception	3.44
Other grounds of objection	3.45
Representative interest	3.46
The problem of tribunal members having been involved in the investigation or the decision to bring proceedings	3.47
Prior involvement in an issue	3.49
The problem of disciplinary tribunal members who have been involved in separate proceedings against the accused	3.50
Involvement in the law or standard-making process
The Luxembourg cases	3.51
The UK cases	3.53
The problem of informal contacts	3.56
Practical steps to avoid bias	3.59

Waiver	3.63
The problem of prejudicial pre-trial publicity	3.64
(3) The right to a tribunal 'established by law'	3.67
(4) The appointment of the tribunal members	3.72
The chairman	3.74
The composition of a tribunal	3.76
The need for lay members to be trained	3.77
Voting	3.78
The confidentiality of the retiring room	3.81
Transfer to a fresh tribunal	3.82
Interlocutory matters	3.83
Composition of tribunal after adjournment	3.85
(5) The legal assessor	3.89
Legal assessor not analogous to judge	3.91
On what can the legal assessor advise?	3.92
The legal assessor and the preparation of findings	3.94
How should the legal assessor give his advice?	3.99
When may the legal assessor retire with the tribunal?	3.100
Questions by the legal assessor	3.102
A useful comparator for the role of a legal assessor	3.103
Bias on the part of the legal assessor	3.105
Should the regulator's in-house lawyer be the legal assessor?	3.107
Security of tenure of legal advisers	3.109
(6) Judicial protection of tribunals	3.113
Chapter 4 Civil Liability of Regulatory Bodies
Saima Hanif, Nicola Kohn
(1) Liability towards members and authorised persons
Remedies in tort	4.03
The 'complete control' principle	4.04
Effect of a statutory remedy	4.09
Malicious prosecution	4.10
Remedies in contract	4.11
Limitations on contractual remedies	4.15

Right to a declaration absent a contract	4.18
(2) Liability towards third parties
Summary	4.19
No general duty of care arising from authorisation	4.20
The government function principle	4.24
The self-contained statutory machinery principle	4.26
No general liability for a failure properly to investigate a complaint	4.28
(3) Exclusion of liability and indemnities
Exclusion of liability by statute	4.33
Exclusion of liability by contract	4.35
Indemnities	4.36
(4) Issues of liability arising from disclosure/non-disclosure
Disciplinary body liable to disclosure	4.37
Liability arising from use of documents covered by legal professional privilege or public interest immunity	4.39
PART 2 THE DISCIPLINARY PROCESS
Chapter 5 The Investigation
Gregory Treverton-Jones QC, Peter Mant
(1) What may trigger an investigation?	5.01
Complaints from clients and third parties	5.02
Complaints arising from monitoring/supervision	5.06
Complaints and reports from fellow members and competitors	5.08
Complaints from employees and whistle-blowers	5.09
Anonymous complaints	5.18
Other reasons for investigation	5.19
(2) The duty to report misconduct	5.20
(3) Inter-regulatory disclosures	5.24
Memoranda of understanding	5.26
Duty to notify other regulator	5.27
Disclosure of money laundering, etc	5.29
Disclosure authorised or required by statute	5.31
(4) The decision to investigate	5.33

Statutory discretion to investigate	5.35
Meritless complaints	5.36
Can a person under investigation challenge a decision to investigate?	5.37
Does the person under investigation have a right to know why the investigation was instituted?	5.39
(5) Publicising the commencement of an investigation	5.41
(6) Conduct of the investigation	5.44
Application of the European Convention to investigations by public authorities	5.49
What duty does the investigator owe to the subject of a disciplinary investigation?	5.50
Entrapment	5.52
No duty to administer a caution	5.56
Provisional determination	5.59
The power to demand information	5.61
(7) When should an investigation be deferred pending action by another regulator?	5.66
(8) When must an investigation be deferred pending criminal proceedings?	5.70
When deferment of disciplinary proceedings may be justified pending criminal proceedings	5.75
(9) Deferment of disciplinary investigation pending civil action	5.79
The case-law	5.86
(10) Resignation to prevent disciplinary action	5.91
(11) Libel implications concerning information supplied to a regulator	5.95
Absolute privilege	5.96
Qualified privilege	5.101
Data protection	5.103

Chapter 6 The Decision to Prosecute

Gregory Treverton-Jones QC, James Potts

(1) Who decides to bring disciplinary proceedings?	6.01
(2) The decision to bring disciplinary proceedings	6.03
The evidential test	6.04
The public interest test	6.12

Information provided to the decision-maker	6.16
(3) Action other than referral to a disciplinary tribunal	6.19
No further action	6.22
Formal or informal advice	6.24
Requirements as to further training or control of practice	6.28
Caution, warning, reprimand or rebuke	6.29
Penalties without referral to disciplinary tribunal	6.33
Inappropriateness of dismissal from office as an alternative to disciplinary action	6.35
(4) Challenging decisions to bring or not to bring disciplinary proceedings
Can the complainant challenge a decision not to bring disciplinary proceedings?	6.36
Can the respondent challenge a decision to bring disciplinary proceedings?	6.41
Convention rights not engaged in decision to bring disciplinary proceedings	6.46
Informing a respondent that he will not be prosecuted	6.48
(5) Publication of decisions to bring disciplinary proceedings and administrative sanctions	6.52
Chapter 7 Pre-trial Issues
Gregory Treverton-Jones QC, Alexis Hearnden
(1) Prosecution case statement
The right to fair notice at common law	7.02
The Convention right to receive particulars	7.04
Drafting of the particulars	7.07
Amendments to particulars	7.12
'And/or' allegations	7.13
Dishonesty must be pleaded	7.15
Multiple charges	7.17
The rule against duplicity	7.19
(2) Other pleadings
Defence case statement	7.24
Further and better particulars	7.26
(3) Case management and pre-trial hearings

Case management	7.27
Challenging interlocutory decisions	7.31
(4) Securing the attendance of witnesses	7.32
(5) Adjournments	7.34
The criteria to be adopted in applications to adjourn	7.36
The need to exercise discretion	7.37
Doubtful reasons for adjournment	7.39
Adjournment on grounds of criminal proceedings against the respondent	7.42
Adjournment on grounds of respondent's ill health	7.45
(6) Stay of proceedings	7.49
Abuse of process	7.51
Delay as grounds for a stay	7.54
Delay: common law	7.56
Delay: Art 6 and the 'reasonable time requirement'	7.58
When does time start to run?	7.65
Remedy for delay	7.70
Stay on grounds of bad faith, etc	7.73
Stay on the ground of a collateral attack on a decision of a competent court	7.78
Other grounds for stay	7.81
Double jeopardy	7.82
(7) Preparation for trial
Notice of the hearing	7.86
Where notice is not received	7.87
The effect of a finding or order obtained without notice received	7.88
Notice not given through fault of respondent's solicitor	7.91
Chapter 8 Disclosure and Confidentiality
Gregory Treverton-Jones QC, Alexis Hearnden
(1) Introduction	8.01
(2) Disclosure of confidential information to a regulator	8.06
Disclosure of wrongful acts	8.08
(3) The compelling by a regulator of production of information or documents in the possession or control of the regulated

individual or entity	8.12
Do these powers override confidentiality and/or privilege?	8.18
(4) Other means by which a regulator may obtain documents in the control of the regulated individual	8.21
The use of medical records in disciplinary proceedings	8.22
The use of police or another regulator's materials in disciplinary proceedings	8.28
(5) Disclosure by a regulator of non-documentary information in its possession, particularly the identity of its sources	8.30
(6) Disclosure by a regulator of documents in its possession or control during disciplinary or other legal proceedings
General principles	8.38
Disclosure and the EHCR	8.41
Disclosure of documents by a regulator as a non-party in civil proceedings	8.48
Documents held by a regulator may be subject to a request or application for disclosure from a third party	8.50
(7) Can the regulator resist production on the grounds of confidentiality, public interest immunity, and/or privilege?
Confidentiality	8.56
Public interest immunity (PII)	8.60
Legal professional privilege and litigation privilege	8.65
Waiver of privilege	8.72
In-house advisers	8.76
The ambit of privilege in disciplinary proceedings	8.77
Without prejudice communications	8.79
(8) Failure to disclose relevant documents by a regulator	8.85
Chapter 9 The Hearing
Gregory Treverton-Jones QC, Rory Dunlop
(1) The right to a fair hearing	9.02
(2) Public hearings and reporting	9.06
Hearings in private etc	9.13
Private disciplinary hearings	9.17
Reporting of disciplinary proceedings
Public disciplinary proceedings	9.18
Private disciplinary proceedings	9.22

(3) The right to an oral hearing	9.24
Trial in the absence of the respondent	9.28
(4) The right to representation
Legal representation	9.31
Public funding	9.36
Assistance from a non-legal adviser or friend	9.38
(5) The burden of proof	9.40
Reverse onus clauses	9.43
(6) The standard of proof	9.48
The different treatment of barristers and solicitors	9.50
The civil standard explained	9.53
(7) The order of proceedings	9.57
(8) Securing the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents
Securing the attendance of witnesses	9.60
Securing the production of documents	9.65
Witnesses outside the jurisdiction	9.69
Objections by third parties to the production of documents	9.72
Conduct money and costs	9.76
Disobedience to a witness summons	9.77
Use of witness statement for collateral purposes	9.78
(9) Aspects of the evidence
Admissibility of evidence and hearsay	9.79
Hearsay evidence	9.83
Findings in other proceedings	9.85
(i) Criminal convictions	9.86
Findings in civil proceedings	9.88
Findings of another tribunal	9.90
Vulnerable witnesses	9.91
Expert evidence and the inherent expertise of the tribunal	9.92
The privilege against self-incrimination
The civil law rule	9.98
Acceptance of rules can exclude the privilege	9.99
Self-incrimination before public authorities	9.101

(10) The defence case	9.102
Submission of no case to answer	9.103
Respondent not giving evidence	9.105
Character evidence	9.107
(11) The conduct of the tribunal	9.108
Inattention etc	9.109
Over-interventionist approach	9.111
(12) Consequences of procedural defects	9.112
Internal appeals process 'curing' earlier unfairness	9.115
No power in the tribunal to re-open its decision	9.121
Chapter 10 The Tribunal's Decision
Gregory Treverton-Jones QC, Fenella Morris QC, Jack Anderson
(1) The need for reasons	10.02
When reasons are required of public authorities under the European Convention	10.04
The adequacy of reasons under UK jurisprudence	10.05
Delay in producing reasons	10.07
(2) The order of proceedings in determining penalty	10.08
Newton hearings: disputed facts following an admission of guilt	10.09
Past record of the defendant	10.11
Submissions on penalty by the prosecution	10.14
Mitigation	10.16
(3) The purpose of disciplinary sanctions	10.17
Bolton v The Law Society	10.18
Application of Bolton	10.19
Bolton and the ECHR	10.21
Public confidence in the profession	10.22
Protecting the public generally	10.24
(4) Proportionality in the imposition of sanctions	10.25
(5) Guidance and indicative sanctions
Dangers of reliance on sentencing precedents	10.28
Indicative sanctions guidance	10.31
Changes of sanctions policy	10.34

(6) Factors relevant to penalty	10.35
The relevance of facts admitted but not charged	10.36
The relevance of foreign regulatory orders	10.37
The effects on penalty of a plea of not guilty in criminal proceedings	10.40
(7) Duty to give reasons	10.41
(8) Particular penalties and powers	10.42
Minimal sanctions to be considered first	10.43
Expulsion from membership/removal of authorisation	10.44
Commission of a criminal offence	10.46
Dishonesty	10.48
Lack of integrity short of dishonesty	10.49
Drugs convictions	10.50
Penalties for bad work	10.52
Temporary suspension	10.54
The need for warning before suspension	10.60
Review hearing	10.61
Conditions	10.62
Orders requiring medical treatment	10.67
Admonitory penalties	10.69
Fines	10.71
The relevance of the respondent's means	10.78
Compensatory orders	10.80
Warnings	10.82
No further action	10.84
The need for reasons in penalty decisions	10.86
(9) Costs	10.87
Costs against the respondent	10.88
What may be subject to an order for costs?	10.90
Fair procedure	10.92
Costs against the respondent	10.94
The means of the respondent are relevant	10.95
Partial success	10.99
Costs of the Tribunal	10.100

Costs against the Regulator	10.101
Costs under the Convention	10.105
(10) Payment of fines and costs
Time to pay	10.109
Enforcement of fines and costs	10.110
Chapter 11 Appeals and Reviews
Saima Hanif, Rory Dunlop
(1) Introduction	11.01
(2) When a right of appeal may be exercised	11.02
Time limits	11.04
(3) What will happen on an appeal?	11.10
Grounds of Appeal	11.11
Wrong	11.14
Unjust because of a serious procedural or other irregularity	11.19
Injustice, causation and remittal	11.22
Fresh evidence	11.23
Remedies	11.25
(4) Judicial review	11.27
Bodies that are amenable to judicial review	11.29
Time limits and procedure	11.32
The grounds for judicial review	11.36
Remedies on judicial review	11.44
PART 3 SPECIFIC REGULATORY REGIMES
Chapter 12 General
Saima Hanif, Jack Anderson
(1) The criteria for admission to membership/authorisation	12.03
(2) Application to be re-admitted as a member/re-authorised	12.12
(3) Conditions of authorisation	12.17
(4) Interim measures	12.19
(5) Fitness to practise proceedings	12.21
(6) Delegation	12.23
(7) Equality Act 2010	12.24
(8) The rights of third parties	12.34

Chapter 13 The Regulation of Financial Services

Saima Hanif

(1) Introduction	13.01
Overview	13.07
(2) FCA's functions and statutory objectives	13.10
(3) FCA authorisation and approval	13.12
Regulated activities	13.14
Approved persons	13.15
(4) Information gathering and investigation powers	13.16
Requiring information and documents from firms	13.18
Reports on firms by skilled persons	13.20
General investigations of firms and appointed representatives	13.21
The appointment of investigators to carry out investigations into specified matters	13.22
Investigations in support of overseas regulators	13.24
The appointment of investigators to carry out investigations of collective investment schemes	13.25
Protected items, banking confidentiality and privilege	13.26
Admissibility of statements	13.30
Policy and practice	13.31
Notification	13.32
Publicity	13.33
Interviews and search warrants	13.34
Certification procedure	13.39
(5) The Regulatory Decisions Committee	13.40
Warning notice and decision notice procedures	13.46
Third party rights and access to FCA material	13.50
Mediation	13.53
Decision notice procedure	13.54
Supervisory notice procedure	13.56
Publication	13.58
(6) The discipline of authorised firms and approved persons	13.60
Alternatives to commencing disciplinary proceedings	13.62
The decision to take disciplinary action	13.63

The nature and seriousness of the breach	13.64
The conduct of the firm or the approved person after the breach	13.65
The previous regulatory record of the firm or approved person	13.66
Guidance given by the FCA	13.67
Action taken by the FCA in previous similar cases	13.68
Action against approved persons	13.69
Public censure and statements of misconduct	13.70
Financial penalties	13.72
Factors which may be relevant in determining the level of fine
The seriousness of the misconduct	13.74
The extent to which the contravention was deliberate or reckless	13.75
Whether the person on whom the penalty is to be imposed is an individual, and the size and financial resources of the firm and individual	13.76
The amount of profits accrued or loss avoided	13.77
Conduct following the contravention	13.78
Disciplinary record and compliance history	13.79
The variation or cancellation of permission and withdrawal of a firm's authorisation	13.80
Withdrawal of approved person status	13.82
Prohibition of individuals	13.86
Cancellation of Part 4A permission on FCA's own initiative	13.89
Prohibition of unfit persons	13.92
(7) The market abuse regime	13.93
What is market abuse?	13.96
Sanctions for market abuse	13.98
(8) The role of the FCA as prosecutor	13.105
Regulatory or criminal proceedings?	13.111
Sentencing guidelines	13.114
(9) A summary of FCA's restitution powers	13.115
FCA's power to require restitution	13.119
FCA's criteria for determining whether to exercise its restitution powers	13.120

FCA's choice of powers	13.121
Determining the amount of restitution	13.122
Other relevant powers	13.124
(10) The role of the Upper Tribunal (Tax and Chancery Chamber)	13.126
Rules and legislation	13.128
(11) Designated professional bodies	13.133
Chapter 14 The Regulation of Healthcare
Alison Foster QC, Peter Mant, Tom Tabori
(1) Impairment of FTP	14.04
Grounds of impairment	14.05
Ground (1): misconduct	14.07
Ground (2): deficient professional performance and lack of competence	14.11
Ground (3): convictions and decisions by other regulatory bodies	14.14
Ground (4): adverse physical or mental health	14.19
Finding impairment	14.23
(2) Initial consideration of allegations	14.26
Case examiners	14.28
Exceptions: when an allegation must not be referred	14.29
Direct referral to FTP Committee	14.30
Delay	14.33
Referral to Interim Orders Panel	14.34
Notice of referral to Investigating Committee	14.35
Review of decision whether to refer	14.36
(3) Investigating Committee
Consideration	14.39
Assessments	14.43
Procedural fairness at the investigation stage	14.48
Determination	14.52
Agreement of undertakings	14.54
(4) Action following referral to a FTP Committee	14.55
(5) Procedure of a FTP Committee
Right of appearance	14.59

Representation	14.60
Evidence: burden and standard of proof	14.63
Admissibility of evidence	14.65
Evidence of convictions or prior regulatory determinations	14.68
Recording and transcripts	14.70
Extraterritorial conduct	14.71
Referral for Interim Orders Hearing	14.73
Public and private hearings	14.74
Absence of the registrant	14.78
Order of proceedings	14.80
(6) Disposal of the case
Available orders	14.82
Reasons	14.86
Publication of decision	14.89
Review of FTP Committee Decision	14.93
(7) Fraud or error in relation to registration	14.95
(8) Interim Orders Hearings	14.98
Test	14.99
Procedure	14.102
(9) Costs
General rule	14.112
(10) Appeal	14.114
The nature of the appeal jurisdiction	14.115
Procedural rules on appeal	14.117
(11) PSA's power to refer decisions to the court
Section 29	14.121
The court's approach to s 29 referrals	14.123
Scope of referrals	14.124
Chapter 15 The Regulation of Legal Services
Gregory Treverton-Jones QC
(1) The structure of legal services regulation
Introduction: the genesis of the Legal Services Act 2007	15.01
Reserved legal activities	15.03

The Legal Services Board	15.06
The Legal Ombudsman	15.11
(2) The regulation of solicitors and Alternative Business Structures
The Law Society and the Solicitors Regulation Authority	15.15
The SRA Principles and Code of Conduct	15.17
The regulation of entities	15.21
The regulation of Alternative Business Structures	15.22
Investigations by the SRA	15.25
Intervention	15.29
The disciplinary powers of the SRA: traditional law firms	15.32
The disciplinary powers of the SRA: Alternative Business Structures	15.35
The Solicitors Disciplinary Tribunal	15.37
Appeals	15.43
(3) The regulation of barristers	15.46
The BSB Handbook	15.52
Disciplinary structure	15.58
Appeals	15.60
(4) The regulation of other legal professionals	15.63
Legal Executives	15.64
Licensed conveyancers	15.74
Patent attorneys, Trade Mark attorneys, Costs lawyers and Notaries	15.77
Chapter 16 The Regulation of Other Professions
Saima Hanif, Yash Bheeroo
(1) Architects Registration Board
Introduction	16.04
Applicable code of standards and conduct	16.05
The complaint process	16.07
The disciplinary hearing	16.08
Sentencing	16.11
Jurisdiction of the Committee	16.14
Appeal	16.15
(2) Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales

Introduction	16.16
Applicable Code of Standards and Conduct	16.17
The complaint process	16.19
The disciplinary hearing	16.20
Sentencing	16.24
Costs	16.25
Appeal	16.26
(3) Chartered Institute of Management Accountants
Introduction	16.30
Applicable code of standards and conduct	16.31
The complaint process	16.32
The disciplinary hearing	16.35
Sentencing	16.41
Costs	16.45
Appeal	16.46
(4) The General Pharmaceutical Council
Introduction	16.50
Applicable code of standards and conduct	16.51
The complaint process	16.53
The disciplinary hearing	16.55
Sentencing	16.61
Costs	16.62
Appeal	16.64
(5) Police Disciplinary Tribunal
Introduction	16.66
The complaint process	16.68
(6) Rugby Football Union
Introduction	16.70
Applicable code of standards and conduct	16.71
The disciplinary hearing	16.72
Sentencing	16.77
Costs	16.81
Appeal	16.83

PART 4 DATA PROTECTION AND FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

Chapter 17 Data Protection and Freedom of Information

Saima Hanif, Jennifer Thelen, Annabel Lee

(1) The Data Protection Act 1998	17.01
The data controller	17.03
Personal data	17.08
Processing	17.11
Permitted processing	17.12
‘Consent’	17.13
Notifying the data subject	17.14
Sensitive personal data	17.15
Individuals’ right of access to data	17.16
Requesting information	17.18
Responding to a request	17.22
Use of data	17.28
Exemptions	17.29
The regulatory activity exemption	17.30
The concept of ‘prejudice’	17.34
The ‘publicly available information’ exemption	17.35
The ‘disclosures required by law’ exemption	17.36
Other exemptions	17.37
Discretionary disclosure not exempted	17.38
Enforcement	17.39
(2) The Freedom of Information Act 2000
Introduction	17.43
A ‘public authority’	17.44
Response to a request for information	17.46
The duty to advise and assist	17.47
Right to levy reasonable charges	17.48
Refusals – reliance on exemptions	17.49
Exemptions	17.50
Investigations and proceedings conducted by public authorities (s 30(1))	17.51
Law enforcement (s 31)	17.52

Inquiries (s 32(2))	17.57
Personal information (s 40)	17.58
Information provided in confidence (s 41)	17.59
Legal professional privilege (s 42)	17.61
Prejudice and the public interest test	17.62
The Freedom of Information Act 2000 versus the Data Protection Act 1998 – which route should applicants take?	17.63